

Virtual CIO

Today's Business Challenge

Has your company grown to the size where it requires a capable and experienced IT leader, but is not yet in a position to hire a full time CIO? Many companies lacking an experienced and commercially focused IT leader frequently experience issues such as:

- A disjointed and poorly performing IT function
- Costly, ineffective, and delayed service from vendors
- Failed IT projects with budget and timeline overruns
- Difficulty securing company systems and customer data
- Rising IT costs that are not reflective of true business value
- Losing customers due to service and communications issues
- A lack of confidence in disaster recovery and business continuity capabilities

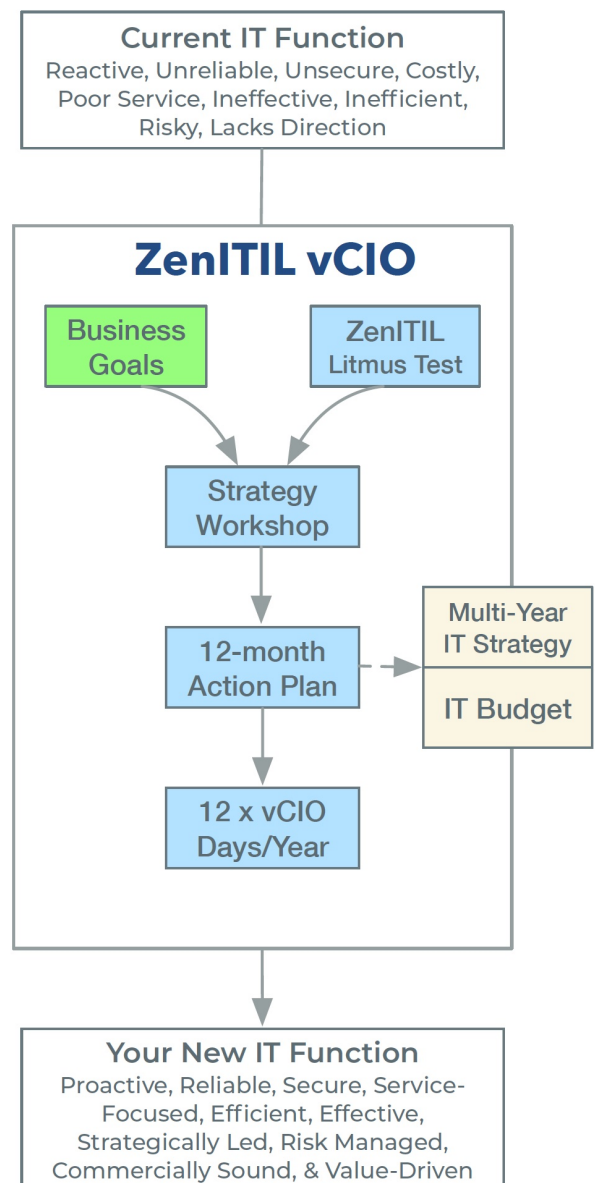

Our Solution Benefits

Through ZenITIL's vCIO service we work with you to generate pragmatic strategies and solutions to these issues so your company can focus on reaching its full potential. You gain the benefits and cost-effective value of an experienced and independent CIO without the 6-figure expense of hiring a full time IT executive. Positive outcomes for your company include:

- Data-driven decision making reflecting a multi-year IT strategy we generate with you
- Service Providers managed for efficient, cost-effective, and secure delivery of service
- IT projects restored to being on time, on budget, and delivering true business value
- IT evolved from a cost centre to a genuine business enabler
- Secure and available systems that cost less

About ZenITIL
